Madison looks at new ticket system

Proposal would allow offenders to pay fee directly to city

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

Madison officials are hoping a new traffic ticket system will be a boon to the financially strapped city.

City Attorney Casper Nighohossian said he is in the middle of a proposal to eliminate most of traffic tickets that he says could reap hundreds of thousands of dollars of revenue for the city annually while helping to bring the money in.

"Basically it is an alternative adjudication process," he said.

Instead of appearing in court, the traffic offender can pay an administrative fee directly to the city. The offense will not go on the driver's record.

"It is similar to the county system of fines and suspension, but without all the county fees attached," Nighohossian said.

Currently, a traffic offender who pleads guilty and gets court supervision pays about $10. The city gets about $30 of that, Nighohossian said.

The city would issue the ticket and the state and county are trying to gain by it, he said.

Under the new proposal, the driver would still be allowed to go to court if he found guilty of paying the fines, court costs and fees. Of course, if the offender is found not guilty in court, no fine or fees are paid.

Nighohossian said he first learned of the ticket system from the Illinois Municipal League conference in Chicago earlier this month. Northfield — a northern Chicago suburb — has implemented the administrative ticket system for speeding, stop sign violations, improper lane usage and other traffic violations and produced revenue of about $50,000 in a single year.

Nighohossian said the system "a clean, quick resolution and more realistic approach to traffic enforcement and compliance."

He said that Northfield police issued about 5,000 tickets and between 90 and 95 percent of the people chose to take the administrative route.

"At $50 per ticket, with 90 percent compliance, that comes to $225,000 — that's almost a quarter of a million dollars," Nighohossian said.

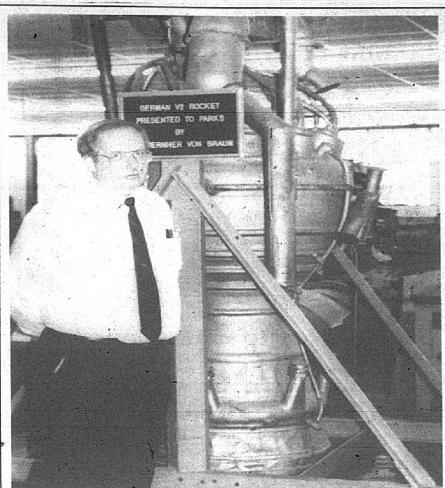

While some cities issue administrative tickets for city ordinance violations, an Attorney General opinion reached the same effect as law in the absence of court precedent and declared the practice illegal.

Local man honored for aviation education

Darrell Downing of Granite City was recently awarded the 1994 National Educator of the Year Award by the Aviation Technician Education Council.

Downing teaches maintenance engineering and aerospace technology for St. Louis University at Parks College Campus in Collinsville.

St. Louis University nominated Downing for the award. He said there were probably 200 or 300 other nominations from 200 or 300 other aviation schools across the nation.

Although he was happy to win the award, Downing remains humble.

"I'm just an Iowa farm boy. There is little genius to what I do, just a lot of hard work."

He was presented the award at the Aviation Technician Education Council's annual convention in Boston, Massachusetts. Along with the honor, Downing received about $7,000 in prizes.

Another part of the prize involves additional training. He has also been sent to Palm Beach, Fla.; Wichita, Kansas; and Chicago, free of charge, to speak to schools and organizations regarding aviation.

Downing visited an aircraft corporation while in Wichita. He looked at a new industry, which he says is a rarity for teachers, and modestly said, "I learned far more than they ever learned from me."

According to Downing, Parks College was the first school of aviation in the world. It has been a flight school and an aircraft factory, and it trained many World War II pilots.

Downing has been a teacher at Parks for six years. Before that he had an independent aviation supply for five years in Granite City.

He is a graduate of Northeast Missouri University, and has lived in Granite City since 1974. Downing's wife, Carol, is a teacher in Edwardsville.

New golf course in Fairmont City

By NICOLE VAUGHN
Staff writer

Offers up for a challenge can tee up at a new Fairmont City course.

Tee-Up Golf Center, 3500 Kingshighway, opened an 18-hole, 3,227-yard course Friday that has something to offer golfers in every stage.

The course will satisfy every golfer, whether they're beginning, intermediate, advanced or expert, owner Bob Brockland. "It's a good entry-level course for people that are just getting into the game or for the seasoned player who wants to work on their chipping and putting. It plays tougher than I thought it would."

Women's yardage is slightly shorter at 3,080 yards.

The course was designed by KTVF Channel 12 weatherman Dave Murray. It completes the plans that Brockland had for Tee-Up three years ago when the driving range, miniature golf and restaurant there opened.

Dave Wrigley is the course superintendent and Kent Johnson is the head PGA pro.

The course has been two years in the making, with the work being done by Joe Wrigley of L.W. Contractors Inc. in Collinsville. Wrigley, a non-golfer, is now Brockland's primary partner in the course.

Wrigley said, "Bob and Dave came up with the way they wanted it to be and I tried to make it work."

All of the greens meet United States Golf Association specifications, and Tee-Up is recognized by the Professional Golfers' Association as an official length course.

Greens vary in size, averaging 5,000 square feet each. The longest hole is a 322-yard, par-4 No. 11. The shortest is the 82-yard par-3 No. 4.

Each hole has three tee-off points of varying lengths. There are opportunities to use a driver at least six times during 18 holes of play.

While it has its share of challenges, golfers can play the course swiftly. On Thursday, a foursome completed nine holes in an hour and 45 minutes.

Golf carts are available, and the driving range features heated tees.

Corrections

Republican Diana M. Clark is opposing Democrat Tom Holbrook in the 13th District state representative race in the Nov. 8 election. Another Democratic representative, Jay Hoffman, also has opposition in the election — Republican Rich Lidsky.

An article in Sunday's Press-Record Journal said neither Democrat nor Lidsky.

Clark is a veteran of Republican politics in St. Clair County and on the state level. She was elected Belleville Township trustee in the 1993 non-partisan election.

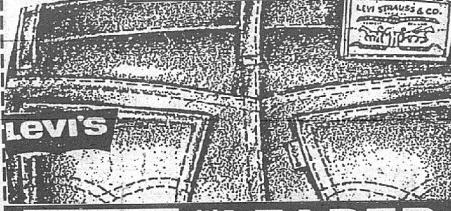

Clark has been endorsed by three former candidates for state representative from the 13th District: Jim Kochan, Michael Corder and Fred Christian. Born and raised in Belleville, she is a veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps and currently works for Secretary of State George Ryan. She is married and has three children and one grandchild.

Ragsdale: License 'is no big deal'

SPRINGFIELD — Madison County Republican Chairman Edward Ragsdale is on the "Big Wheels with Low Numbers" list that targeted Democratic state secretary of state candidate Pat Quinn. But Ragsdale says it's no big deal.

Quinn last week followed up his earlier call for getting vanity license plates with limited letters or numbers up for public auction by distributing a list of several hundred people who have them.

The candidate said the list showed that the Secretary of State's Office provides "perk plates" to political contributors or current or former elected officials, their relatives and others.

Ryan's office noted in response that many of the plates listed by Quinn were obtained several years ago by previous administrations and that most of them required a premium price.

Ragsdale said he obtained his "BC" plate about four years ago and its origin dates to a Lincoln Day fund-raiser for the GOP at which then secretary of state and now Gov. Jim Edgar was there.

"I think we had a very good dinner and he (Edgar) asked me if I wanted that plate. I was flattered he thought that much of me and I followed up on it."

SIUE names dean of fine arts

Dixie Engelmann, who has been associated with the School of Fine Arts and Communications at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville since 1974, has been named acting dean of the school.

The appointment, announced by Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs David C. Hiltz, was approved by President Nancy Nichols, effective Sept. 16, subject to affirmation by Chancellor James Brown and the SIU Board of Trustees.

Engelmann was named to the position formerly held by David Sill, who was appointed associate provost. She had served as assistant dean since January 1988.

Engelmann holds faculty rank as an associate professor in the Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology. She is an alumna of the university, having received a baccalaureate degree in speech pathology and audiology and a master's degree in speech pathology.

She has completed extensive research in speech and language problems and has been the recipient of numerous grants.

had to pay a little bit extra and it was no big deal," Ragsdale said.

He also said he was against the idea of auctioning off his and other plates to the highest bidder because, "Once you have a plate I think you should be able to keep it."

"Pat Quinn is an oddball and a gadfly who will do anything to get himself in front of the press. He hasn't done anything as state treasurer," Ragsdale charged.

Among others who have plates on Quinn's list are Deltaplano International Ltd., with the plate "BC." It is one of the companies controlled by William Cellini, a longtime Springfield Republican who is also the chairman of the board and largest stockholder in Argosy Gaming Co., owner of the Alton Belle Casino.

Cellini's sister Janice, who is personnel director for Edgar, also is on the list. There are several other prominent Republicans and Democrats, including Democratic State Party Chairman Gary LaPaille, whose plate reads "LAPAILLE."

Among the "multiple perk plate holders" listed by Quinn are Dr. Firouz Amirparviz of Springfield, with four different plates. He is Dr. Quinn's physician.

OTB parlor is running in middle of pack

The new off-track betting parlor in Alton is running in the middle of the parlor pack, according to early results.

"The parlor in the Alton Landing is the Alton Bet," Lang said. The new facility, ranked 15th among the state's 23 OTB parlors in the average amount wagered per racing program in its first 10 days, had a total of $1,111,170, Lang said.

Fairmount Park Racetrack in Collinsville opened the parlor Aug. 18.

"Overall, we're very pleased. I know a lot of the people that go there are very happy with the facility," Fairmount general manager Brian Zander said. "A lot of people made an evening of it and ended up both wagering on horse racing and casino games. Overall, it's accomplishing exactly what it was intended to do: expose more people to horse racing and horse racing patrons to casino betting."

The average handle, or amount wagered per racing program, at the Alton parlor for the period was $16,170, Lang said recently.

For the reporting period, the highest handle was $71,157 at the parlor in the south side suburb of Crewood and the lowest was $4,902 in Quincy, Lang added.

The Alton Landing parlor is doing better than the state's other track parlor located in a riverboat casino docking facility. The parlor at The Empress in Joliet had a handle of $11,152 for the period, Lang said.

Lang said he's been doing about the same as the one in Peoria, where there is also direct com petition from nearby riverboat gambling, with an average of $10,000.

Fairmount Park dropped an OTB parlor in Quincy to open the parlor in The Landing, and so far the new facility is taking in about three times as much in bets.

Based on the figures provided by Lang, the Alton parlor is also the top performer among the five operated by Fairmount, but terling Springfield with a $15,800 handle; Grayville, $10,276; Carbondale, $8,748; and Effingham, $5,711.

Of the Alton operation, Zander said the "only problem so far is people can't get seats sometimes."

"We added an additional table, several tables in Ace's Sports Lounge are used by people with racing programs," he said.

Granite City to be subject of tour

If you have ever wondered about how Granite City and surrounding towns are developed, here's your chance to find out.

Join David Cassens on Nov. 12 from 1-4 p.m. for a three-hour "Where We Live" bus tour that will take you in and around the Granite City area.

The tour focuses on industrial development and Eastern European immigrants who came to work and stayed to live in the area.

The "Where We Live" program is a series of coordinated activities that targets community issues and encourages residents of the St. Louis metropolitan area to understand the many cultural, architectural and historic dimensions of neighborhoods throughout the area.

Admission is $15 for the general public and $10 for Missouri Historical Society and Landmarks members.

SIU may have cure for rural ills

Rural health care providers say Southern Illinois University may have the prescription for recruiting more physicians to central and Southern Illinois.

A plan presented Thursday to the SIU Board of Trustees focuses on ways to meet future health care needs in 54 downstate counties, many of which offer shortages of providers.

"I think it's needed," said Elaine Ryders, a physician's assistant at Bunker Hill Rural Health Center. "A lot of people, especially in Southern Illinois, need medical care, and it's just not available. It's great, and I hope it works."

The plan's estimated annual cost is $4.1 million, about $2.17 for each resident of the study area. Funding would come from federal and state sources, as well as reallocations within SIU.

The plan stresses new and expanded programs, improved coordination of programs within the university, more cooperative arrangements with other colleges, universities and outside agencies, and increased use of telecommunications.

Recommendations include:

Studying the feasibility of a new four-year medical program at SIU at Carbondale to train primary care physicians for rural areas. Medical students now take their study at SIUC then transfer to the School of Medicine in Springfield.

Creating a bachelor's degree program to train physician's assistants at SIUC's College of Technical Careers.

Attracting more minority and female students for health care professions.

Providing a clinical site for Lewis and Clark Community College's two-year dental hygiene program, with easy transfer to a new four-year program at SIUC.

Establishing a nurse practitioner option and admitting more students in high-demand areas at SIU at Edwardsville's School of Nursing.

Summerstage to hold auditions

Summerstage Community Theatre is holding auditions for "A Christmas Carol" at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 24, at the Summerstage Playhouse, 2006 Pershing in Granite City. Adults and children are needed for this production. Beverly Scroggins is the director.

Adults should be prepared to sing a selection of their choice (if interested in a singing role) and do a cold reading. Children should be prepared to recite a brief piece if they are under 10 years of age.

For more information, call Summerstage at 451-1032.

rusic's punishment. However since Modrusic had already been suspended for 20 days, he will be reimbursed for 20 days and report back to the Venice police department immediately.

"In the class of prosecution, two of the charges were dismissed because there was no proof," Melroy Hutnick, Modrusic's attorney, said after the hearing.

He was found guilty of misconduct in office and as an officer even though there was no evidence (presented) that she (Matthews) sustained serious injury. I'm pleased the board found him guilty on two counts, but I think they also should have on the third," Hutnick said.

Hutnick said he will recommend that she pursue file for administrative review. If he does, a circuit judge would be asked to review the case to see whether the board acted properly.

This is a young officer, with spotless record, trying to condemn a person who was under arrest and had a long criminal history," Hutnick said.

I don't know what more they want me to offer to do. If an officer can't use minimal force, what is he supposed to do because there will be people who won't want to be arrested," Hutnick said.

Both Casper Nighohossian, who represented the board, and Scott Griffith, who represented Benten, declined comment.

Chancellor James Brown said various aspects of the program are subject to subsequent action by the trustees and the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

"The plan defines a commitment to work on a major problem affecting our region. It doesn't say we are committed to any specific action," he said.

Brown said he is optimistic about the state board's support because the board requested the review that produced the plan and its representatives were involved in the plan's development.

for moving violations such as speeding.

About two years ago the city of Troy implemented administrative ticketing for moving violations, but discontinued the practice at the urging of Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine, who cited the AG's opinion.

Madison Police Chief Paul Bargiel said the administrative ticket is a good tool for parking violations and code violations discovered by the police.

"But as long as the State's Attorney and the Attorney General are of the opinion they are illegal for moving violations, my officers won't be using them," Bargiel said.

But, Nighohossian said, the Illinois Municipal League has a differ-

"We're not going to just jump into it. But I would like to go to Northfield and see how the system operates," Nighohossian said.

"I don't know how the state or the courts are going to react to it. I imagine the courts and clerks will be tickled that it will free up a judge to do something other than traffic," Nighohossian said.

Jam

Traditionally, the fall event features a day of music, poetry and prose, and sometimes plays and skits, performed by workers from a variety of occupations.

"This year is part of a huge movement of labor arts that has been gaining momentum for years while all over the world," commented Norma Gaines, secretary for the Greater Madison County Federation of Labor, one of the various local and national labor groups that sponsored the event.

"The purpose is to promote the culture of the working class — their problems and experiences and to enjoy just being together," she added.

Gary Gaines, a steelworker at Granite City Steel and organizer for the jam, agreed.

"They don't belong to the wealthy and powerful," he said.

"With the music in the background and friends catching up, it was time for discussion of more pressing issues, how NAFTA or GATT will affect unions here and elsewhere closer to home, the rally in D.C. and so on," said Bob Boe, Jr., coordinator for the event.

"This is a crucial time for unions, in the country and here in Illinois. And we have a chance to show our support for those who need help," he said.

Karen and Steve Steinerger, who came from St. Louis in the day, enjoyed the music and the surroundings. "It hits home when times are hard, and the support means a lot," said Lalumondier, whose husband is business agent for Teamsters Local 688.

Poster time. — Idea Lab and fourth grade students at Maryville School are designing posters on peace and the environment with the hope that they, along with other students in Madison and St. Clair Counties, will break the Guinness Book of World Records for mazes Oct. 21 through 31. The maze will open as part of the Edwardsville/Glen Carbon Harvest Fest at Miner Park in Glen Carbon. Pictured above, from left, are Breanna Atchley, Melodi Winters, Hannah Kamphoefner, Bryan Pointer and Justin Harkey. The posters will become part of a permanent archive placed onto CD-ROM, sent to the Library of Congress and shown at the Smithsonian Institute during July 1996.

ATA DOESN'T FIGHT FARE.

WE ALWAYS HAVE LOW FARES
WITH THE FEWEST RESTRICTIONS ON EVERY FLIGHT.
EVERY SEAT, ALL THE TIME.

ATA doesn't think you should have to wait for a fare war to plan your vacation. So we always have low everyday fares. Even when the other airlines run their special sales, they often don't match our low fares. And, chances are they will attach Saturday night stay and advance purchase requirements to their momentarily low fares. Two things you never have to deal with on ATA.

See, all those price wars and all those requirements make traveling too much like work and not enough like vacation. And on ATA, you're on vacation. Every day. Any day.

Soccer players show strength

A few columns ago, I mentioned that high school football in the Southern Illinois area just didn't seem to have the hitting that it was a feature of.

The reaction from a prep player was enough to convince me the game remains a contact sport, but the disparity in scores still hasn't met up with not all the good athletes at schools here are trying out for football.

ONE OF THE best examples is Granite City, where 6-2, 205-pound Shawn Petroski is a soccer player.

It matters little if Petroski ever played football, because he's an example of the caliber of athletes playing soccer.

This is not to say Petroski would make Granite City.

into a football winner if he played that sport, but even some soccer players on a level lower than him should be decent football players.

On the soccer field, Petroski rates as one of the best in the St. Louis area and a likely bet for a NCAA Division I scholarship.

"He's gotten a step and a half faster and is considered the best player in using either foot in the St. Louis area," said Granite City coach Gene Baker.

Thanks to weightlifting with his uncle, John Brecker, Petroski also rates as one of the strongest players in the area.

"HE ALWAYS HAD upper body strength, but now he has great leg strength," Baker said of his center striker. "He's the strongest player we've ever had there."

Petroski's leg strength is so good, Baker said, that he went to the extent of having his player's shot tested by a radar gun.

"We had him at 75 miles per hour on his shot," Baker said.

In the recent Granite City Tournament of Champions, there was no radar gun on Petroski, but one of his four goals against Monroe North may have reached that speed.

"He's really answered the challenge this year," said Baker, who also referred to Petroski's academic efforts.

"He's answered the challenges in the classroom the same way he has on the field," Baker said.

EXTRA INNINGS: On Nov. 12, when the Mon-Clair Baseball League holds its annual awards banquet Hall of Fame induction and the Monroe Valley Waterford and Granite City will take most of the individual honors.

Leaders for the Monroe Division and playoff champion Waterloo will be honored. Monroe's earned-run champion Larry Shirkles at 143 of a 91 record. Darin Hendrickson of Granite City led the Monroe Division with a 12-2 record, two saves and a 2.42 ERA.

In the batting department, Tim Hogan of Granite City had a league-high .507, while Mike Wirth led the division with a .414. Dan O'Fallon, Granite City's John Spomack hit .390 to earn St. Clair Rookie of the Year honors, while Waterloo pitcher Brian Smith gained the Monroe Division title with a .404 award with a .94 record and a 2.01 ERA.

Team MVP honorees also will be announced at the banquet as well as the league's Manager of the Year.

(Art Voellinger is the baseball and soccer coach at O'Fallon High School. He writes a twice-weekly column for the Journal.)

St. Louis U. High slips past St. Mary's in defensive battle

By R.J. Gerber
Staff writer

A little luck and some unified play Monday lifted St. Louis University High to a 1-0 victory in the title match of the 14th annual Granite City Tournament of Champions at The Gauntlet.

SLUH's Patrick Feagan scored the game's only goal on a corner kick in the first half at the 23:33 mark to knock off St. Mary's.

The Junior Billikens were fortunate in that St. Mary's still had time left on the shot and it trickled by goalkeeper Jim Walsh.

"I JUST HIT a low line drive because it was going into the wind and it nicked somebody and went in," said Feagan, a senior defender.

"I had no complaints, though. That team has a lot of heart and character."

Warriors blank West, clinch conference title

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

Five Warrior soccer players celebrated Senior Day by sharing the spotlight Saturday in a 7-0 victory over Belleville West at The Gauntlet.

Seniors Greg Sturdivant and Shawn Petroski scored two goals each, while junior Matt Little, Stephens, Matt Little and Scott Nemeth added goals to lead Granite City to an easy win.

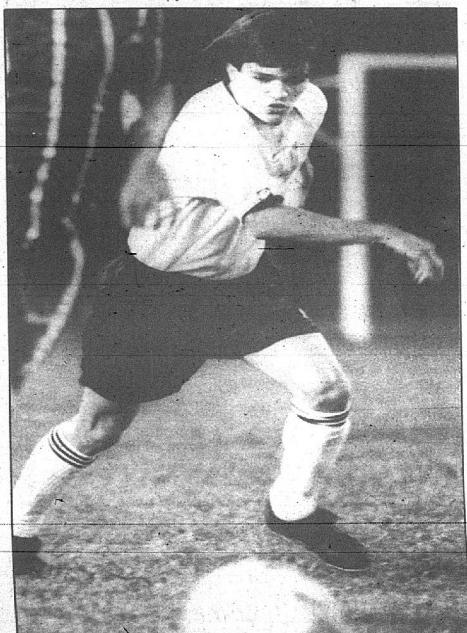

The Warriors, 10-0-1, the Maroons, 9-2-1, controlled the field of play throughout the contest. Granite City improved to 7-0 in Southwestern Conference play and wrapped up its first SWC title in two years.

THE WARRIORS DOMINATED the Maroons after a pre-game ceremony honoring Granite City's senior players.

"They're a nice team, we just happened to have a pretty good day," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "It was a nice team win."

The group of teams playing a higher level of competition, formerly known as the National Conference, is now called Tier II. The other tier is comprised of new and smaller programs and those generally considered not competitive enough for the other conference. It has been renamed from American Conference to Tier II.

The change in names was made to acknowledge the talent difference between the tiers. The conference was dropped when the league crowned two champions and the names National and American conferences did not differentiate which team was superior.

The schedule will remain the same in that Tier I teams will play a schedule against other Tier I teams and Tier II teams will play other teams in their own tier.

"IT MAKES FOR more competitive games and it allows us to develop players," Buschene said. "Equal quality, better games. The good thing is the (See HOCKEY, Page 3B)

Expansion gives Mid-States league new look

By Kip McLain
Correspondent

Increasing team participation and the availability of more ice time have spurred significant changes in the Mid-States Club Hockey Association for the 1994-95 season.

Three new teams have been added to the league — Pattonville, Rockwood Marquette and Hazelwood West — bringing the total number of Mid-States teams to 33. Also, two new ice rinks have opened and will be available to the league members — Webster Park in St. Peters and Webster Groves Ice Rink. With the additional venues come additional games. Each Mid-States team will play a 22-game schedule this season, an increase of three games from last year.

COMPlicating matters is the fact that Queeny Park is increasing time for its public sessions and that Webster Groves, originally scheduled to open Nov. 1, will now open Oct. 25. This will force the league to schedule about 20 games that begin at 11:15 p.m. Also, because of the new rinks, some teams will have home ice at two different sites.

"Since our cost went up, we at least will maintain average attendance for the regular season games," said league scheduling chairman Charlie Buschene, who also coaches SLUH.

Mid-States will have 363 total games this year compared to 276 last year. Total league attendance was nearly 49,000 for those 276 games last year, an increase over previous seasons.

"As long as we don't have a football team in town, ice hockey is going to grow and grow and grow," Buschene said.

The mid-size mid-size teams will use a rotating conference alignments has also changed this season, as have the names of the conferences.

INSTEAD OF TEAMS automatically moving up or down from one conference to the other based on the previous season's record, the league will now have to examine player personnel changes before determining where to place teams. Any team

Beard eludes injury, Tigers in Flyers' win

By R.J. Gerber
Staff writer

Kevin Beard almost single-handedly carried East St. Louis to its 17th straight victory Saturday over archrival Webster Groves. Following the game, his Flyer teammates returned the favor.

Several Flyers hoisted the 5-foot-7, 169-pound Beard onto their shoulders following East St. Louis' 21-19 win at Clyde C. Johnson Stadium.

It was Beard, who overcame a first-quarter knee injury, who led the Flyers to victory and one of the most memorable contests between the two city rivals.

For his achievements, Beard was named the East Side Publications Journal Athlete of the Week.

Beard, a junior and three-year varsity performer, was a factor from the opening kickoff to the finish.

He did miss more than two quarters of play because of a twisted left knee, but his heart wouldn't keep him on the field to that point.

(See BEARD, Page 3B)

Besides running back the opening kickoff 88 yards for a touchdown, Beard was also the team's main man during the winning drive.

East St. Louis, down 19-7 in the fourth quarter, started their comeback when Rodney Session scored on a 62-yard pass play from Lawau Powell.

Beard, who had stretched and run on the injured knee for more than two quarters, then made perhaps the biggest play of the game to that point.

Tier II people are the people who are "improving their programs this year."

While the league has expanded from 27 to 33 teams in the past three seasons, JV programs have also increased in number, from 15 to 22 teams.

A new league at the new site of Mid-States championship games, the Kiel Center. The championships will be during the first week of March.

Joining the Tier I Gold Division is defending Mid-States champion Parkway South, which will be joined by Parkway West, Webster Groves, Parkway Central, LaSalle, Parkway North and new additions Kirkwood and Ladue.

In the Tier I Silver Division, defending division champion CBC is joined by O'Fallon, Vianney, SLUH, Fox, DeMet and new additions Mary Institute Country Day and Oakville.

The new league moves down to Tier I for the first time. Gold Division is joined by new programs Hazelwood West and Patonville to compete with Hazelwood Central, McCarthey North, Francis Howell, Hazelwood East, Francis Howell and North and McCluer.

In Tier II Silver, St. Mary's moves down to Tier I, is joined by Marquette, Eureka, Mehlville, Whitefield, Lindbergh, John Burroughs and Clayton.

time in more than a week. Granite City had last played on Oct. 7 against Aquinas Mercy in the Tournament of Champions.

The Warriors lost that game 1-0, but the layoff did not seem to bother them. Granite City took a 3-4 lead in the first half against Belleville West and scored just 3:46 into the game when Stephens knocked in a header shot past goalkeeper Tom Nichols.

Wilson began with a long throw-in by Jon Reader from the left sideline. Nemeth deflected Reader's throw with a header pass to Stephens, who headed the ball through traffic and into the net.

LESS THAN TWO minutes later, the Warriors earned their first corner kick of the game and Sturdivant scored for a 2-0 lead. Paulie Bucher began the play from the corner and recorded.

The Warriors had numerous chances to score throughout the half and made a 3-4 lead when Pekoski scored in with :09 remaining on a feed by Jeff Hayes. It was Pekoski's 25th goal of the season, and he added his 26th on a penalty kick in the second half.

The Warriors started where they left off in the second half when Little scored at 44:26 on a stopped both, including a corner kick by Nick Bokern.

Jettton who allowed two goals in five tournament games and posted three shutouts — including a 2-0 win over Vianney in pool play — was named the tournament's MVP.

He's deserving of the MVP. We didn't have a great number of chances, but that one ball he saved was huge," Jettton said. "Mike's coach Jim Bokern said.

The championship match was originally scheduled for Oct. 8, but inclement weather postponed the fifth game to Monday. The third-place game between Vianney and Aquinas Mercy was canceled.

SLUH, which ended a three-year Tournament of Champions reign by Vianney, won the tournament for the first time since 1989. The Junior Bills are 6-1-1 in maintaining a streak. But for this team to win, all 11 players have to work together and that's what we got tonight," SLUH coach Chuck Martel said.

"The guys had to fight for every game they played in and that makes it all the sweeter."

SLUH had only one player named to the all-tournament team, senior back Greg King.

That's indicative of how important team play is for the Junior Bills, Martel said. "I don't think we have any stellar players and I kind of like it that way," he said.

It was the third Tournament of Champions for SLUH, which was placed first in 1986.

Bokern, whose team fell to 13-6-1, said more important goals are ahead for the Dragons.

"We're doing well right now, we didn't do that, but the bigger prize is still ahead of us with the state tournament," he said. "I'm really proud of these guys. They've come a long way."

•Beard

rouching the Flyer kicker on the PAT try following Session's score, Flyer coach Bob Shannon elected to go for two points.

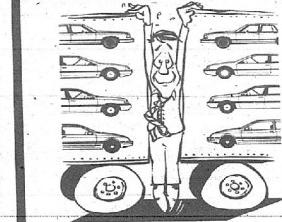

Beard got the call and booted it wide right at the end zone on sheer determination. The Flyer co-captain wouldn't be denied as his diminutive legs continued to churn despite being hit at the third and eight games and 10-6-1 overall.

Consistency had been a problem for SLUH before the tournament. "We've been having trouble six-yard Beard scamper into the end zone," he said. All week long East Side had heard that Lincoln had more talent — the streak was going to end, but Beard had a message for everyone after the game.

"Since the opening kickoff, I had it in me," Beard said. "I wasn't going to have it. We proved them wrong. Never doubt us. Never doubt the Side."

Local Eagles Auxiliary members attend conference

Members of Granite City Eagle Auxiliary 1126 attended the two-state (Illinois-Indiana) regional conference in LaFayette, Ind., Sept. 24 and 25. The attendees from Granite City were Ann Pates, Vincie Zerlan, Ken and Joanna Spence and Florence "Fuzz" Hagnauer, Eagle Aerie state grandmother. The meeting was opened with a devotion was called to order by Glenna Garwood, Illinois central regional president. Opening prayer was given by Helen Meyers of Alton, Illinois state chairman. The American flag was presented by Ruth Brown, Illinois state conductor, and the Canadian flag was presented by Marcia West, Illinois state conductor. The Pledge of Allegiance was given by all.

Welcoming addresses were given by Betty Cooper, Illinois state president, and Pat Cain,

The luncheon and afternoon session was a joint session with the Aerie. Carolyn Crummins, state president, gave a speech on membership. Karen Plest, state membership chairman, and Ruth Cheasy, Indiana past state president, talked about instituting new auxiliaries. The afternoon was concluded by Stephanie Smith, east central division president, who gave her summation. A question-and-answer session followed.

A banquet was held in the evening, and the Grand Aerie presented a $5,000 check to the state of Indiana to be given to the University of Illinois research.

A $5,000 check was presented to the state of Illinois and will be given to Southern Illinois University for heart research. Layaway Fund received a $500 check from the Southside Community Center and a $4,000 check to Special Olympics.

Twenty-one attended from Indiana, 51 from Illinois, one from Maryland one from Florida and one from Michigan.

2 churches merge

Two local congregations have spent several months working on a merger of their churches. Declining numbers forced the members of the Madison and Nameoki Presbyterian churches to investigate the possibility of merging to form a new church. Current plans call for the first service of the new congregation to be held Jan. 1, 1995.

The new church will require a new name. Members were asked to submit suggestions to the merger recommendations committee by Oct. 16. In a two-stage voting process, the congregation will choose its new name. The first service of the new congregation will be held Jan. 1, 1995.

The Rev. Charles Schwenke will serve as pastor of the churches before the merger and after formation of the newly formed church. The combined congregations will hold services at Madison Presbyterian Church during October and November. November worship will be at Madison Presbyterian Church.

Back Talk
by Dr. Warren A. Stewart, Jr.

A NUTRITION ALERT

Last year, the FDA formally proposed that women undertake to reduce the risk of birth defects by making sure that their daily folic acid intake exceeds 0.4 milligrams. This small amount of folic acid (B vitamin) can greatly reduce the risk of babies being born with neural tube defects, which affect the brain and spine. These defects are the most serious enough to cause stillbirth or death and are, in fact, the most common disabling birth defects. They affect between one and two infants out of every 1,000 born in the U.S. Chiropractic philosophy has always held that good nutrition prior to conception is important for maintaining well-being. Women of childbearing age should be particularly conscious of this nutritional requirement.

Nutrition plays an important role in all aspects of health. At the office of DR. WARREN A. STEWART, JR., D.C., we believe in preventive health care. We are concerned about helping you achieve and maintain a high level of health through natural healing methods. We're located at 1000 Washington Trace, Suite 12, Farmington Hills, MI. We offer a friendly, warm and caring environment. We strive to treat all our patients with respect, understanding, and individual care. Please call 398-2121, Hrs. M-F 8 am-5pm. During October, Saturday and Monday we would like to increase public awareness of the importance of spinal health.

P.S. Spina bifida, a defect of the spinal column, occurs if the vertebrae surrounding the spinal cord do not close properly during the first 28 days after fertilization.

Students present musical play

Dot Bailey's third and fourth grade split class from Marshall Elementary School recently presented the musical "Johnny Appleseed". Under the direction of their music teacher Alice Vowell, over 100 students, including many-only-crowd at Marshall School's 1994-95 school year open house.

The students sang songs depicting the life adventures and accomplishments of the well known historical figure. Narrations by several of the students added to the presentation, as well as a featured solo by their classroom teacher.

Students participating in the presentation were Derrick Bressler, Kristin Butler, Leah Clutts, Adrian Crighton, Tara DeGonia, Constance Duke, Jennifer Durso, Courtney Dusky, Jenna Giffin, Jacob Glass, Francisca Jadan, Jessica Kuchnel, Jessica Leisner, Corey Robertson, Nicole Rushing, Nicole Sorenson, Leroy St. John, Leah St. John, Scott Sarah Taylor, Amy Toon, Nicole Topal, Michael Walsh, Jere Warmack and Sean Yates.

The evening of the performance marked the birthday of Johnny Appleseed.

Fritzsch named commended student

David D. Painter, principal of Granite City High School, has announced that Colleen R. Fritzsch has been named a commended student in the 1995 National Merit Scholarship Program. A letter of commendation from National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the program, will be presented by the school to this scholastically able student.

About 35,000 commended students throughout the nation are being honored for their exceptional academic promise. They placed among the top one percent of more than a million students who entered the 1995 Merit Program by taking the 1993 Preliminary SAT National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Although the qualifying test scores of commended students are outstanding, they are slightly below the level required to continue in the 1995 Merit Scholarships competition.

A Merit Program spokesperson commented, "It is important to acknowledge the attainments of academically talented students and to credit them for the key role they play in their development. We hope the recognition received by the able young men and women who are commended in this rigorous nationwide competition will encourage them to take advantage of their opportunity for higher education and to diligently pursue their professional goals. The nation will benefit from the full development of this precious intellectual resource."

Publication offers computer-learning tips for parents

By Jane Cosby
Correspondent

Don't rush out to the mall and buy a card for anyone, but this month is Computer Learning Month.

The Computer Learning Foundation, a non-profit organization that works to improve the quality of computer education for children, attempts to increase computer awareness and promote effective use of computers during the month of October.

The proliferation of computers in the workplace and throughout society has convinced most parents that learning to use a computer is a 21st century survival skill.

The problem for parents, especially those who are computer illiterate themselves, is how and when to begin discussing computers to their intimidating machines.

A new publication on the newsstands can offer some help for parents facing this problem. Every issue of "Computer PC" has never picked up a computer magazine or those who have — and find themselves hopelessly lost in language they don't understand, will feel at home with "Computer PC."

This publication offers easily understood information that will help novices get acquainted with computers without, but also contains software reviews and information that even veteran users will find helpful.

The magazine is aimed at families with children and could save parents a lot of money that would be spent in trial-and-error purchases.

If you have a home computer or have one in your future, some guidelines for children's software purchases will help you spend your money wisely.

Software is expensive and usually cannot be returned, so try to see the program in action. If that isn't possible, talk to people who work in computer stores and children. Your child's teacher might be able to suggest good software for your child.

The following software selection tips are adapted from "A Parent's Guide to Educational Software for Young Children" published by Edmark, a publisher of software for children.

• Software should be easy for the child to use independently. It shouldn't require extensive reading or have elaborate instructions for getting started.

• Children should be able to explore the software with the software and not just punch in key-strokes that move the program along.

• The software should use the full power of the computer to offer exciting graphics, appealing animation and sound, and a wide range of interactive options.

• Software should be fun for children to use. It should encourage the child to keep trying after mistakes, but should offer enough help to keep the child from getting discouraged.

• The software should run quickly and not have long delays between screens.

When purchasing software for your child, look for programs that will grow with him. When you consider the cost of the program, look at how long your child will be able to use it. A number of educational programs that your child masters in several months is not worth as much as a word processing program that your child can use for several years.

Jane Cosby is a former teacher and the mother of two.

Fresh Picks

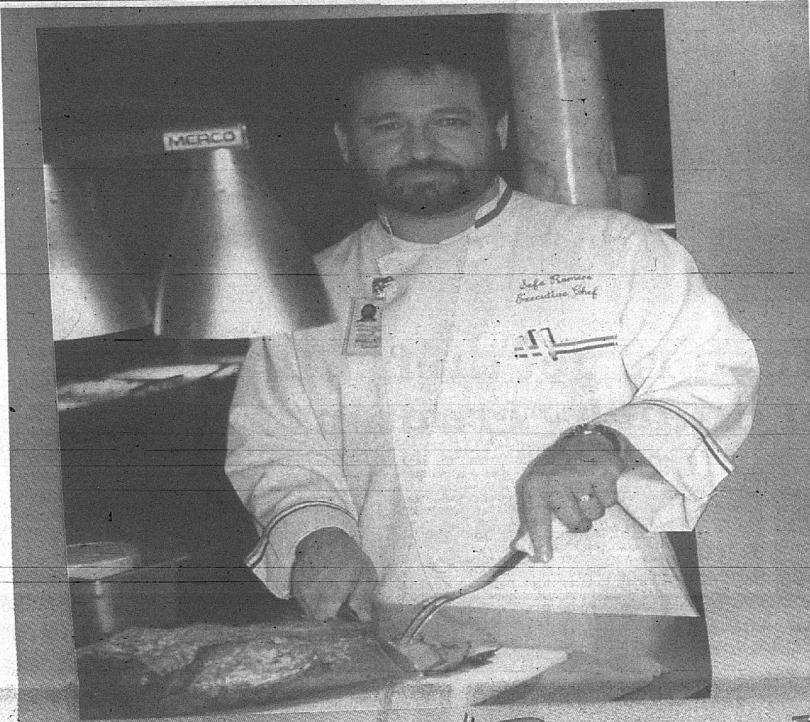

Prime bartlett pear season is in full swing through November. Their sweet juiciness can be used in baked goods like apples. To keep cut flesh fresh-looking, drop slices in a mixture of water with a couple tablespoons lemon juice. For a refreshing breakfast or snack drink, whirl 1 pear with 1/2 cup low-fat milk, 1 cup orange or lemon yogurt and ice cubes until smooth.

Big Fat Tip

This broiler meal adds up to six servings, only nine grams of fat each. Combine 1 pound ground gorgonzola (crushed), 2 teaspoons leaf oregano and 1/2 teaspoon lemon-pepper seasoning. Toss into both sides of 1 1/2 pounds boneless beef top sirloin steak. Toss 3 all-purpose potatoes, each cut in 6 lengthwise wedges, in 1 tablespoon olive oil and 1/2 teaspoon lemon-pepper. Broil 4 to 5 inches from heat, turning once, 15 to 20 minutes until steak is rare and potatoes are tender. Trim fat from meat when slicing.

GOOD FOOD BET ON IT!

By Janice Denham
Staff Writer

Gamblers get as hungry as non-gamblers. The Earl of Sandwich would agree. He was afraid someone would cheat him if he left the table for a quick bite, so he had food brought to him and the sandwich was born.

Local riverboat casinos stake their reputation on good food too. The St. Charles Riverfront Station sticks to what it can do best at the moment - a variety of deli-good possibilities.

The other three - the Alton Belle, Casino Queen and the President on the Admirals - serve varied menus from buffets to brunches, delis to doughnuts.

A little imagination runs all the way from the Four Aces Food Court on the Presidio to an alliterative complement of items like prime rib and stuffed flounder on Belle's Buffet in Alton.

All food staffs take great pride in what they do.

John Origliasso, assistant food and beverage director on the Alton Belle, says Victor's, the formal complement to Belle's Buffet, receives lots of orders for its lobster, as well as its 36-ounce porterhouse, 28-ounce prime rib and 16-ounce filet mignon.

"We do buffets for large groups. It is not unusual to have a standard buffet set up for

Soupy sails

Soup tastes better with a boat sailing on it. Warm creamy soup in a bowl. Form a boat with toasted bread -- the dryer, the longer it lasts -- for the base. A triangular piece of cheese attached to a straw with peanut butter becomes the sail and mast. As the cheese, bread and soup become one, the soup may be "eaten" from the straw if it is big enough.

Todays' Food

Italian classic touches warm 'n' wonderful nerve

Fall signals a change in the season. With it comes a change in eating and entertaining patterns. Cool cooking and fire-roasted dinners are replaced by aromatic soups and stews to be leisurely enjoyed indoors — by a crackling fire if the weather dictates.

Ossobuco is a natural choice for fall entertaining. This classic Italian recipe is slow-cooked until tender and until the meat tender with wine, onion, garlic and tomatoes. This meal is easy to prepare for sharing at an event with family or friends.

Traditionally ossobuco is made by browning veal shanks, then simmering them in a rich wine and vegetable sauce until very tender. Once the veal is in the pan, it cooks unattended. It may be necessary to order veal cross cut shanks in advance from the butcher. Ask for them to be cut about 1½ inches thick for this recipe.

In a large pot with a tight fitting lid and be sure to simmer without boiling ingredients. Heat for boiling is too hot and, instead of speeding the cooking process, makes the veal tough.

Just before serving, ossobuco is sprinkled with a fresh mixture of parsley, lemon peel and garlic. Creamy risotto is the traditional accompaniment, but if time is short, orzo or romanesco (rice-shaped pasta), can be tossed with chopped parsley and grated parmesan cheese.

Crusty bread or rolls and a green salad complete this special autumn menu.

OSOBUKO

2 tbsp. olive oil

CREAMY BEEFY MACARONI

1 pkg. (7 oz.) uncooked elbow macaroni
¾ lb. ground beef
1 jar (30 oz.) spaghetti sauce
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain. In skillet, brown meat. Drain. Stir in spaghetti sauce, macaroni and dressing. Heat through.

FEELING FIT
By Mark Lymberopoulos

Every other day workouts on a stationary bike help women increase bone density in the lumbar spine, a Texas study found. The sedentary control group lost bone mass.

Good, but not good enough — Americans are eating less fat — 34 percent of our calories come from saturated fat in 1978. Saturated fat went down from 13 to 12 percent. But the good news is that our fat content is flat and 10 percent saturated fat by the year 2000.

When choosing workout wear, remember: most fabrics are not abrasion-resistant, but the new high-tech synthetics are better at wicking moisture away from the skin to keep you cool.

Want to add servings of fruit and vegetables to your diet? Eat that good-for-you potato garnish and add some salsa.

When running down a steep hill, it's smarter to run in a zigzag pattern, leaning slightly forward and keeping your bent or walk. Running downhill really stresses joints and muscles.

Smartest of all is working out at the gym.

1 tsp. salt
1 cup chopped onion
½ cup finely chopped carrot
3 cloves garlic, crushed
1 cup (14½ oz.) Italian-style diced tomatoes
1 cup dry white wine
1 tsp. dried leaf basil
1 tbsp. chopped fresh parsley
2 tsp. shredded lemon peel

½ tsp. finely chopped garlic

In Dutch oven, heat half the oil over medium heat until hot. Evenly brown veal shanks one-third at a time, stirring occasionally. As veal is removed from pan, season with salt. Add remaining oil as necessary to brown veal.

In small bowl, combine parsley, lemon peel and garlic.

until tender. Add tomatoes with their juice, wine and basil.

Return veal to pan. Bring to boil. Reduce heat to low. Cover tightly. Simmer 1½ hours or until veal is tender.

In small bowl, combine parsley, lemon peel and garlic.

Remove veal to warm platter and keep warm.

Skim fat from cooking liquid. Bring cooking liquid to boil. Cool until slightly thickened, stirring occasionally.

Spoon about ¾ cup sauce over meat. Sprinkle with Gremolata (parsley mixture).

Serve with remaining sauce.

Memorial's Outpatient Surgery Center just got better... again.

In 1991, Memorial expanded its very successful Outpatient Surgery Center. . .but only after we asked our patients what they wanted. We responded by increasing our exceptional nursing professionals, and providing 28 comfortable private patient areas, convenient parking and access -- all with the immediate back-up of a full-service medical center.

However through our on-going service evaluation program, our patients told us how to even better serve them. So, we responded with:

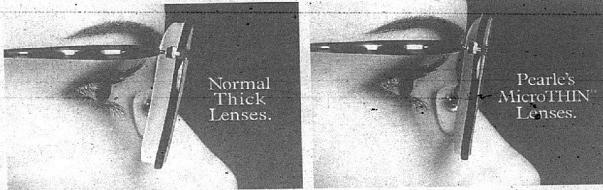

- Centralized and quicker diagnostic testing before surgery (about half the time it used to take).
- A special private pre-surgery area for our outpatients.
- Two new state-of-the-art operating rooms for added scheduling convenience.
- A separate recovery area for our outpatients.

When your physician recommends outpatient surgery, whether minor or complex, ask that it be performed at Memorial's Outpatient Surgery Center -- where services are designed with our patients in mind.

Good Health

Seafood lovers take comfort in chowder

As days get chillier, menus turn to warm comfort foods. Among the most popular are soups and chowders.

Chester is an excellent way to increase the amount of seafood you eat. Seafood is typically low in fat. It also is high in protein and rich in omega-3 fatty acids, a factor that may help protect against both heart disease and cancer.

Chester is a casual fall dinner around seafood chowder, with wholesome whole-grain bread and a salad. The thick, creamy chowder is a meal from head to heel. And it's not only for using butter and cream, but new lower-fat versions produce a robust chowder without using either.

Pureed vegetables and skim milk, for example, provide lots of texture without added fat. Most potato-based chowders have a high starch content, so they make excellent thickeners for soups and stews.

A mixture of pureed potatoes and skim milk can be substituted for cream in almost all soups and chowders. Other low-fat chowder recipes use skim milk thickened with cornstarch or chicken bouillon thickened with flour and canned cream-style corn.

Add nutritious vitamins and minerals to warm and hearty chowder with lots of chunky vegetables. Potatoes are traditional, but sliced carrots, turnips, parsnips, green or red bell pepper sliced mushrooms, chopped celery, or corn can be added.

Seafood chowders often feature clam, but crabmeat, shrimp, scallops and mussels are also popular. Whitefish — such as cod, halibut, haddock and salmon — can be used in oceangoing chowders.

In delicately flavored Mushroom-Seafood Chowder, the chowder of seafood can be varied according to availability and personal preference. Combin scallops and any white, fish oil fish described here, use one pound scallops, fish oil fish.

For free brochure of tips for healthy eating, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: American Institute for Cancer Research, Department TT, Washington, D.C. 20009.

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped onion
2 tsp. basil
 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. freshly ground pepper

3 lbs. potatoes, peeled, seeded, or 1 can (29 oz.) tomato puree

1 1/2 cups fresh or frozen corn

3 cups seafood broth, low-sodium chicken bouillon or water

1 can (15 oz.) Great Northern beans, drained, rinsed

8 oz. crabmeat or surimi (imitation crab) seafood, thawed

In large soup kettle, simmer celery, onion, basil, pepper, tomato, corn, broth, beans and crab 5 minutes. Let cool. Refrigerate, covered, at least 2 hours before serving to let crab flavor develop.

Reheat at least 5 minutes, stirring occasionally, on low heat before serving.

Makes eight (1-cup) servings, 145 calories and 1 to 2 g fat each.

Jazz great Maynard Ferguson to perform Oct. 27 at SIUE

Legendary jazz trumpeter Maynard Ferguson and his Big Bop Nouveau Band will appear Thursday, Oct. 27, at Southern Illinois University's Arts and Issues 10th Anniversary series.

The three-time Grammy nominee and his big band will hit the stage at 7:30 p.m. in the University Hall, on the first floor of SIUE's University Center. The event is co-sponsored by WSIE-FM (88.7) and the SIUE Alumni Association. Ferguson will also conduct a session with students in the SIUE Jazz Studies program during the day.

A stage and recording artist for nearly 50 years, Ferguson has 60 albums to his credit, the internationally-acclaimed band leader and renowned brass performer continues to experiment with musical adventures.

"I'm a person of change, but I must be honest to my artistry and my creativity. That's part of the word 'jazz'...it's an adventure," said Ferguson, 66.

Ricardo Walker, coordinator of the Arts and Issues program, said Ferguson's music is exciting, powerful, and dynamic.

"Maynard is such a legend in the jazz and music world. It's amazing that he has been touring since the age of 11," Walker said. "He's better than ever and leading the hottest virtuous jazz band in existence today."

Tickets are $10 for the public and $8 for students, faculty and staff. Tickets can be purchased at the University Station ticket office in the University Center, 692-2320, or by writing: Arts and Issues, SIUE, Edwardsville, IL 62026-1900. Tickets also include free parking in the Visitors Lot behind the University Center.

Children's art program runs on Saturdays until December

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville department of art and design will continue its "Saturday Studio" for children through Dec. 10.

The program is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

Joe Weber, professor of art and design and supervisor of the program, said the studio experience is an intensive one for students.

This program is designed for talented children, as well as those students who have a general interest in the visual arts," Weber said. "The learning period during these classes is 2½ hours, which allows the student enough time to explore art expression. We offer a challenging art atmosphere for our Saturday Studio program."

The Saturday morning art education program consists of three classes—Primary Children's for ages 6 to 8, Intermediate Art for ages 9 to 12, and Senior Painting for Junior and Senior students ages 13 to 18.

More information about fees, availability of space, and scheduling may be obtained by calling the SIUE art department.

Horoscope

Wednesday, Oct. 19
Mercury's track into Libra, so communication becomes more logical, balanced and fair. But the retrograde status of Mercury remains the same until the end of the month, even if your movements are still difficult to be understood. Trying is a sport and pleasure under the Aries moon. Issues that have complicated life are well suited for fond beginnings.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Your determination to climb the corporate ladder catches the eye of Venus. Accidents and situations may promise intrigue. Love is at your doorstep — be direct and cautious for smooth sailing.

TARUS (April 20-May 20)
Your career is at a peak — take the opportunity to set even higher goals. Start planning a retreat with your lover. A complex family matter may need your attention and watch it boil over. Check out a new dwelling possibility. Rent a movie.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)
Your sociality level is high — use it to endear a love. Reclaim the power you have with friends. Research a long-awaited vacation. Your sense of spirit is useful in stabilizing family situations. Rent a movie.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)
Your work piles up — finish it completely so your boss can reward you. Love is on the way; your attitude changes, but sticking to your original plan is still vital to the longevity of relationships. Friends stop by.

LION (July 23-Aug. 22)
Associates consult you for answers, leading a manager to notice your skills. Relatives invest in your future. A neighbor's past is to be the source of laughter. Focus on health and romance, which are both found in a related area.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 19)
The winning stories you might just tell in the career realm are carried even further this year when you collect owed favors. Focus on true love in November. Put your best foot forward in December in mysterious December. Keep working hard through January and February — even when the results seem invisible. The best signs for meaningful partnerships are Aries, Taurus and Capricorn.

VIRO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Get your way at work by taking charge of a situation. Take a realistic look at domestic life. Small changes bring big improvements. A voice from the past takes you by surprise. Wanderlust and an antique store.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Work becomes more pleasurable by distancing yourself from negative aspects of your job. Your best figures into the present romantic scenario. Have patience — rebuilding a friendship takes time and effort.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)
Your interests about an investment finally pays off now. In a family matter, others may be jealous. Your artistic side gets a lift from a class seminar. Your lover plans special treats for the two of you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
You have increased responsibility at work — make it easier to impress your boss. Talk with friends about a future road trip or cruise. Rewards come by way of mail. Try a different approach to solving problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
An artistic pursuit opens the door for a career change. You have a chance for a monetary bonus, but watch the sides of the business deal. The benefits of spending some time alone become clear.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
An unexpected friend phones with an offer of a lifetime. Luck in light-hearted endeavors is yours. A new friendship is a chance to change. Take center stage at a work party — everyone will notice your flexibility.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
Work is easy to be disciplined enough to ask for raises. Spend some time on an item of clothing or a home accessory. Your family helps iron out details for a trip. Children are attracted to your sparkle.
